

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to the use of puroindolines as additives in biscuit manufacture. More specifically, the present invention relates to the use of puroindolines added to biscuit flour in order to increase the firmness of a biscuit.